- Asking your current math teacher, or see Mr. Marzouk in Room A207

You've probably noticed that scam emails (also called phishing emails) have been popping up more often lately. Some of them can look incredibly real — almost identical to messages you would normally get from school or other services you use every day (such as Teams, OneDrive, Google or SharePoint). These messages are becoming increasingly sophisticated and unfortunately, the number of email attacks trying to steal your credentials has increased.

Our district email filter blocks most of them, but no system can catch every single one.

That's why your awareness is the most important defence.

What's going on?

To help everyone stay safe, the District is running a Phishing Awareness Campaign. From time to time, you may get a practice phishing email. These look similar to real scams but are completely safe — there's no harmful content. They're just there to help you learn what to watch out for.

What should you do?

If you ever get an email that seems odd, suspicious, or just "not right", please report it. Even reporting the practice awareness messages is helpful. Every reported email teaches our system to spot the scams more effectively.

Two Outlook Reporting Options

Why it matters

Your quick actions make a real difference. The more we learn about phishing attempts, the better we can protect everyone's accounts and personal information. Thanks for staying alert and helping keep our school community safe!
